DCI interviewing residents concerning police test scores

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Suspicion about police test scores resulted in city and police officials being interviewed this week by agents for the Division of Criminal Investigation.

The probe involves scores on the written part of a police sergeant examination taken in July 1985. David Rosenberg and James Reader were promoted to sergeant partially for their scores, which ranked first and second in the nation.

The investigators were in Granite City at the request of Dick Allen, Madison County state's attorney, who acted on a complaint from Police Chief Bill Harris and Assistant City Attorney John Hopkins.

"The allegations are that two policemen in Granite City scored 143 and 144 out of 145 on these tests for the promotion to sergeant," said Allen. "The International Personnel Management Association of Alexandria, Va., which supplies the tests, they say the majority of the scores are from 95 to 104 and they (Reader and Rosenberg) scored 143 and 144 ...

"Of course, the allegation is that there must have been some hanky-panky going on ... Unless by some miracle they've (Reader and Rosenberg) become geniuses."

Members of the Fire and Police Commission in 1985 were James Barton, Joe Williams and Dan Partney, who was elected 4th Ward alderman in April prior to the test investigation being made public. Each of the former commissioners was interviewed this week by DCI agents. Allen said among possibilities is that Reader and Rosenberg saw the test prior to taking it.

"The only way they could have accessed the test was through one or more of the police and fire commissioners," Allen said.

"They (DCI agents) came in courteous at first, then intimidated that if I didn't cooperate that I had something to hide," Barton said angrily. "I thought it was a joke. They were trying to tell me what they wanted to hear."

Last week Barton said he wanted the investigation, but he said Monday he is disappointed that the DCI agents would not listen to his explanation that the test issue is part of a series of events designed by political opponents to discredit Dan and David Partney. He said he wouldn't be surprised if indictments follow because, he said, Mayor Von Dee Cruse and Allen are political allies.

"If Dick Allen wants indictments, he can get indictments," Barton said. "If Von Dee Cruse wants indictments, Dick Allen wants indictments ... I think Cruse does."

Cruse dismissed talk of politics, saying it's a defense without merit. He said if something illegal happened, there should be punishment and if nothing happened, he wants the matter quickly settled.

"These things been dragging on and all this stuff isn't good for anyone," Cruse said.

Partney answered questions from the DCI agents, then told them other things about the department.

"They asked me ... if Reader and Rosenberg were sitting at my kitchen table with me going over the test with them and I told them no," Partney said.

He said he told the agents that he does not socialize with Reader and Rosenberg and that among those who took the test in 1985 were persons he knew better.

He also told them that the record of scores provided by the testing company was questionable because "scores by Reader and Rosenberg are not included; that the written part of the three-part test is worth 40 percent, of the total score; that commissioners by law do not have to promote

City pollution still highest

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The state again ranks Granite City highest in air pollution in the state in particulate pollution, one of six categories of air quality.

"It's still the highest in the state," said Dave Kolar, division manager for the state's ambient air quality department, a division of the IEPA in Springfield.

The IEPA produces a yearly Ambient Air Quality Report based on continuous statewide monitoring of a number of air pollution categories. The report, comprised of 1986 statistics, lists areas not in compliance with air standards. Granite City is not in compliance in the particulate matter category, and some heavy metal categories.

The city has been ranked highest in the state in particulates for at least a decade. The IEPA maintains six particulate monitors in the city.

The high pollution levels come mainly from emissions from Granite City Steel's oxygen furnace near 20th Street, though some are caused by auto emissions, according to the IEPA.

One positive development, however, is that lead levels have been consistently dropped in the city, said Jeff Benbek of the IEPA office in Collinsville.

"Things have gotten considerably better in the last two years," Benbek said. He said the level of heavy metals in the city have generally decreased, but still do not meet state standards. Heavy concentrations of lead can be highly toxic and other

BAC bill sent back to House

GRANITE CITY — The Illinois House could vote on the BAC bill tomorrow, said Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City.

The bill cleared the Senate on Monday, but in its return to the House for a vote on an amendment, the BAC bill may have lost and won support. The amendment makes the bill apply only to Belleville Area College.

Some House members backed the bill because it addressed problems in their districts and others opposed it due to opposition from the Illinois Community College Association.

The legislation would allow voters in the Belleville Area College District to decide if they want to elect trustees by subdistricts rather than at-large.

Partney license suspension lifted

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A judge has ordered the secretary of state's office to remove the driver's license suspension against School Board member David Partney.

Madison County Associate Judge Daniel Stack ordered an injunction against the secretary of state's office on Tuesday. The injunction was requested by Partney's attorney, Leon Scrogins.

The injunction upholds a temporary court order by Chief Associate Judge Edward Ferguson that stayed an automatic suspension of Partney's license.

The suspension followed the April 17 arrest of Partney by Granite City police on a charge of driving under the influence.

Partney refused to take a breath-alcohol test. Such a refusal carries an automatic six-month license suspension but Ferguson stayed the suspension pending the outcome of an appeal by Partney on whether Patrolman Tim Lyerla had probable cause to stop and arrest Partney. Partney said he was set up by Lyerla and Patrolman Walter Milton Jr.

The secretary of state's office refused to honor Ferguson's order but, Gary Mack, a spokesman for Secretary of State Jim

Woman alleges rape in Madison

MADISON — A 35-year-old woman alleges being raped in her home at about 2 a.m. Sunday.

Trudell Leon Greenwood, 27, of 205 Madison Ave. was arrested in front of his home at 8:12 p.m. Sunday. He is charged on two counts of criminal sexual assault. He was transferred Monday to Madison County Jail.

It is not known if Greenwood, alias Leon Pool, is a street gang member.

The alleged victim told police a man calling himself Leon Pool was at her house at about 2 p.m. Saturday. He reportedly told her he was sent by the landlord to check leaking water pipes, then requested sex with her. She refused and she said he offered her $500 for sex, which she also refused.

She alleged he then tried to force her to have sex and she told him it was not for sale. He left the premises after about 30 minutes, she said.

The woman said that at about midnight a neighbor in the downstairs apartment asked her to have a late snack with him and her boyfriend. She alleged Greenwood was there, appeared to have been drinking, and left after talking about white people who don't want to associate with black people.

After eating, the woman told police she returned to her apartment and went to bed. She alleged Greenwood was waiting in the apartment and put a pillow over her face.

The woman told police Greenwood told her, "You would get me one way or the other."

She alleged that after a struggle she was bound and raped. He saw a picture of her children in the room and threatened her and her children if she told anyone, she told police.

The woman told officers the man left at about 2 a.m. but she waited until about 9:30 a.m. Sunday to make sure he was not in the neighborhood before walking to the police department to make a report.

She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. A state police sexual assault evidence collection kit was compiled, pictures were taken of her injuries and she was admitted due to her being emotionally distraught.

Six apply for principalship

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — District 9 School Board member Alan Crider isn't among six applicants seeking the Nierdinghaus Elementary School principal post.

Five district employees and one person from outside the district have applied for the job. Superintendent Gib Walmsley said.

Board member David Partney said Wednesday that Crider wasn't one of the applicants. Last year, Crider applied for the Coolidge Junior High principal post, but withdrew his application.

A special meeting of the board will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the board office, 20th and Adams streets, to conduct interviews for the Nierdinghaus position.

The job is being vacated by Harry Briggs Jr., who begins service as regional superintendent of schools in August. Briggs was elected in November, succeeding his uncle, Gene Briggs.

Warfield will not sign overcharges

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — No more overcharges involving sewer contracts will be approved by Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield unless he is consulted in advance.

Warfield said at the City Council meeting on June 16 that he is often not consulted on why extra money is being spent on sewer repairs.

The subject of change orders came up at the meeting when Pat Schuman, Street and Alley Committee chairman, recommended the city pay for a $60,000 change order to Insitu-form, the company which is repairing city sewer lines.

Schuman came up with a plan to use Insituforming for more sewer repairs than originally intended, because the company's process is considered less expensive than other repair methods. A change order was used instead of rebidding the sewer work.

Warfield, who is charged with overseeing city sewers, said he was not consulted about the extra Insituform work, as well as other recent change orders, but has received the bills.

"I keep getting invoices that I didn't approve. I'm not going to continue to approve these

Administrative salaries OK'd

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Salaries and benefits for District 9 administrators will total $1,296,275 for the 1986-87 school year, $23,540 more than paid in 1985-86, but won't result in an increased tax rate.

The School Board on Tuesday approved the following amounts for salaries and benefits:

Gib Walmsley, superintendent, $55,000. (His salary is pre-rated by Walmsley said. He received $49,000 because he didn't start as superintendent until August, he said.)

Norm Owca, director of finance, $46,000.

Terry Salem, administrative assistant of personnel, $47,500.

Rich Brinkoff, administrative assistant of elementary instruction, $42,500.

Mike Sikora, administrative assistant of secondary instruction, $41,750.

Steve Balen, special education director, $41,700.

Tom C. Holloway, vocational and career education director, $41,100.

THIS VACATION AVOID THE GUILT; LEAVE YOUR LOVED ONE IN GOOD HANDS

While many families choose to provide care for their loved ones in a home setting, occasionally situations require the family to seek temporary, alternate care.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center has developed a unique program to meet this need. It is the Respite Guest Unit Program and it offers short-term care for overnight, weekends or periods extending up to two weeks.

Located within the Medical Center on the third floor of the Doctor's Wing, Respite Care accommodations consist of all private rooms with bath, telephone and television.

Services provided to Respite Guests include:

- Full meal services including special dietary needs
- Housekeeping and room linen services
- Supervision or assistance with personal care activities and medication administration
- Leisure and recreational activities

Volunteers honored

Med center volunteers honored for 51,000 hours of assistance

St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, held its annual volunteer appreciation dinner, honoring nearly 300 adult volunteers for their "essential support in the operation of the medical center." Together, these volunteers contributed over 51,000 hours in 1986.

All volunteers were honored at the banquet awards ceremony, and two received special gifts.

Helen Bergfield received an engraved silver plate for volunteering 12,380 hours. Mary Kristian received a clock, described as a practical gift for someone who spent 19,081 hours of her time in service at the medical center.

"They are a wonderful group of people, very giving and very cooperative," said Joyce Epperson, director of volunteer services at SEMC. "Instead of being a supervisor, I feel I've gained 200 new friends."

Hospice of Madison County volunteers also were honored. "Hospice volunteers are vital because there isn't a lot of money available to run hospices. They rely heavily on volunteers. And it's not easy to be a hospice volunteer," said Nancy Kaprelian, hospice volunteer/public relations coordinator.

"Especially since these volunteers go into the homes and deal with terminally ill patients, hospice volunteers are special people."

Epperson said, "There is no typical description of a hospital volunteer. Some are retired. Some have raised their families and are now ready to give their time to the community.

"Some are school teachers who volunteer in the summer. Others volunteer in the winter while their children are in school."

It was related that volunteers can be found almost anywhere in the medical center.

"They are in the print shop, and in security; delivering the mail and collecting patient menus; transporting patients to X-ray or visiting with an anxious loved one waiting for a patient's discharge."

"They provide comfort, compassion and assistance whenever and wherever it is needed. They are men and women, married and single. They work as few as two hours and as many as 150 hours a month, on days, evenings and weekends."

"The volunteers are always giving more," said Epperson. "They are great to work with."

'Luther's Works' donated to city's library by church

New at the Granite City Public Library is the final volume, 55, of Luther's Works.

The volume is being added to the local library's collection of Luther's Works this week. The entire set of 55 volumes is a gift to the library from the Lutheran Bureau of the Tri Cities, sponsors of the annual Easter sunrise service at Wilson Park.

This series has been in preparation since the late 1960s. The latest volume is a comprehensive index to the whole set of books.

Martin Luther's works comprise more than 100 volumes in the original German. The two most familiar German versions are the Weimar and the Erlangen editions.

The latest American translation has been reduced to 55 of the choicest of Luther's volumes, plus a "companion" volume entitled Luther, The Expositor, which is "An Introduction to the Exegetical Writings of Dr. Martin Luther."

Volumes one to 30 cover Luther's Biblical commentaries. Editor was Dr. Jaroslav J. Pelikan of Yale University. Publishing House of St. Louis. Volumes 31 to 55 cover Luther's Reformation writings. Dr. Heinrich T. Lehmann, editor-in-chief at Fortress Press, Philadelphia, served as editor of these volumes.

High school and college students, as well as the general public, may now avail themselves of the opportunity to use these volumes for reference or study purposes—in readable English.

The Lutheran Bureau is made up of the following commissioners: Edward Christ Sr. and William Scholof of Concordia Lutheran Church; James Choat, this year's chairman, and Virgil David of St. John Lutheran Church; and Harold E. Kohnke Jr., this year's treasurer, and Thomas B. Roach, of St. John Lutheran Church, plus the three local Lutheran pastors, who serve in an advisory capacity: Pastors David Rasmussen, David Fielding and Samuel Boda.

More lifts for buses

Repairing and upgrading some wheelchair lift-equipped buses, purchasing new buses with lifts and adding new call-a-ride paratransit service to some areas are elements of a plan the Bi-State Development Agency is proposing to improve public transportation for the disabled.

The plan was developed with advice and assistance from an advisory committee comprised of people with various disabilities.

The agency has set a tentative goal of installing wheelchair lifts on 171 buses to be used for fixed-route accessible service.

"Buying 60 new buses with wheelchair lifts," said the plan.

"Training and eligibility programs to ensure that the plan works."

Bi-State will receive comments through July 24 and then submit a final plan to the Urban Mass Transportation Administration.

People can submit comments by writing to the attention of Ron Stephens, Bi-State Development Agency, 707 N. First Street, St. Louis 63102.

Landfill fees delayed by Chicago judge

SPRINGFIELD — The new state fees on garbage dumped in landfills have been ordered held in a "protest fund" while a judge in Chicago decides whether they are constitutional.

Madison County was in line for a grant of $30,000 to $40,000 from the fee revenues to aid its landfill inspection and enforcement efforts.

But that will have to be put on hold because of the court case, said Mike Nechvetal of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

The lawsuit also raises issues that could affect objections to the fees by some cities and villages. The law exempted only municipal waste taken to private landfills under long-term contracts that could not be renegotiated.

Because Alton operates its own landfill, it was not eligible for the exemption. East Alton is not eligible because it just renewed a contract with a private hauler on Jan. 1. Both Alton and East Alton are seeking reimbursement from the state for their added costs under the State Mandates Act.

The landfill owners and waste haulers who filed the lawsuit contend the law imposing the fees was unconstitutional because it impaired contracts, discriminated against different types of landfills, and did not allow haulers to seek exemptions for municipal waste.

Among the plaintiffs in the case in Chicago is GSX/Laidlaw, owner of the large Barton Landfill near Edwardsville.

Barton and another Laidlaw landfill, in St. Clair County, are under contract for 3.3 million cubic yards of garbage a year from the city of St. Louis.

About $3.2 million in fees was received for the first quarter, of which about $1.7 million from the plaintiffs was ordered into a protest fund. The IEPA distributed the rest of the money, including making a $245,000 commitment to fund a solid waste disposal study for Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties.

Members of Troop 15 not pictured who also assisted were Eric Johnson and James Barron. In addition, James Holmes, Cliff Ferris III and Wendell Halderman of Boy Scout Troop 12 under the leadership of Scoutmaster Cliff Ferris participated. Board OKs vacating part of road

The Madison County Board last week approved vacating a portion of County Highway 19 in Fort Russell Township so a runway at St. Louis Regional Airport may be lengthened.

The county is vacating 2,350 feet of the road, which will be relocated. Gary Napp of the county highway department said officials are studying different means of relocation.

County Highway 19, located east of the airport in Bethalto, also is known as Birch Drive and Moreland Road.

Plans call for the airport to purchase rights-of-way for the relocated road with funds provided by the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT). The property will be placed in the name of Madison County or the village of Bethalto.

The airport will fund 90 percent of relocation costs, using state money, not to exceed $1,250,000.

The runway is being extended for American Electronic Laboratories (AEL), an avionics firm that manufactures products for the defense industry.

Earlier last week, the company announced $14 million construction that will take place over the next five years at the airport.

IDOT has committed $7.8 million for extension of the runway and ramp improvements.

AEL is based in Lansdale, Pa. It expects to employ about 360 people in this county by 1991.

In other business, the county board voted to sell the administration site of the county-owned former Nike missile base on Illinois 4 near Marine.

The 20-acre tract has been the target of vandals. The county bought the property about 15 years ago but never used it.

The county will retain the 10-acre missile launch site of the base, on Fruit Road north of the administration site. That tract is used for storing records from the county circuit clerk's office.

The sheriff's department also maintains a shooting range there, said board member H. Jack Frandsen, D-Alhambra.

The board approved appointments to a committee that will study the feasibility of forming a county health department. Creating the committee was approved by the board last month.

The committee will be chaired by board members Harold Byers, D-Highland, and Robert Stille, D-Edwardsville. Stille also chairs the board's Health Institutions Committee. Vasil Effimoff, D-Granite City, will be on the committee.

Byers, a former state representative, is urging that the county establish a health department, asserting that state funding for a variety of health-related programs otherwise might be jeopardized.

Opponents say the county government already provides adequate health services and monitoring through existing agencies, homes, programs and committees. They say that, though all but two major Illinois counties have health departments, many of these departments are costly and provide poor service.

Half-price weekly bus pass offered by Bi-State for Veiled Prophet Fair

The Bi-State Transit Division of the Bi-State Development Agency will offer its standard Weekly Bus Pass for half price during the week of the Veiled Prophet Fair to encourage fair-goers to avoid traffic jams by leaving their cars at home.

The Weekly Pass will cost $5, a $5 saving compared to the usual cost, and will be valid from June 29 through July 5.

The pass is now available for purchase at all pass outlets. The Weekly Pass allows an unlimited number of rides on local and express routes Monday through Sunday.

With the exception of the discounted Weekly Pass, regularly scheduled bus service will be available at normal fares. On Friday and Sunday, July 3 and 5, holiday (Sunday) service will be operated on regular routes.

On Saturday, July 4, regular Saturday service will be provided. Because of temporary street closures due to the Fair, the Levee Line will not operate on July 3, 4 and 5.

"Ride Free Zone" bus rides in the downtown area will be free as usual within the area between Cole and Highway 40, and Jefferson and the river.

"Bi-State offers this specially priced Weekly Pass to give fair-goers and downtown workers an option to avoid traffic hassles, and to encourage those who haven't ridden the bus lately to try a great system," said R. Raleigh D'Adamo, Bi-State executive director.

"With this pass you can go to the fair or any other place as many times as you want to, and by riding the bus instead of taking your car, you reduce traffic congestion."

Like 5:12... "And it came to pass in those days, that He went out into a mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer."

The Scripture teaches us that Jesus prayed. And He prayed on this occasion, all night long. In the garden of Gethsemane. He prayed until his sweat fell as it were great drops of blood.

If Jesus prayed, shouldn't we? He prayed when major decisions had to be made. After all night in prayer He called his disciples unto him and of them He chose twelve to be Apostles. After prayer in the garden He knew God's perfect will.

Have you a decision to make that is tough? Are you about to buy a new home? Change jobs? Planning a marriage? These are many major decisions we must make that will forevermore affect our lives. We owe it to ourselves to pray and ask God to help us.

Why not make a decision to take everything to God in prayer? Today.

Four vehicles were burglarized June 19 in the Arlington Heights subdivision of Nameoki Township.

Larry Holder of 13 Hanson Drive told deputies a burglar entered his car while it was parked in his driveway and took an in-dash AM-FM stereo radio. A briefcase was also taken from the auto and its contents were scattered on Holder's front lawn. Value of the items is $180.

Bill Monical, 9 Hanson Drive, said an intruder entered his auto, parked in his driveway, and took an AM-FM cassette radio with equalizer.

Kathy Goelan of 45 Shirlwin

Home looted by burglar

A burglar rummaged through the house of Homer Station, 3001 Willow Ave., June 23 and took a cassette player, quarter and dime rolls, and liquor, with a total value of $85. Police found broken glass and what appeared to be blood stains on an inside window frame where the burglar entered.

2 counts of theft filed

Nora Lee Arnett, 53, of Edwardsville, was charged with two counts of retail theft and one count of contributing to the delinquency of a minor at 5 p.m. June 20 after she and a 16-year-old youth were stopped by National store security officers. The officers alleged finding cigarettes, denture cream and a pair of sunglasses. After a search of her car, patrolmen said they found two cartons of cigarettes from another grocery store. Bail was set at $302.

Car hits crossing gate

Drive said she discovered the driver's and passenger's doors of her van open and the interior lights removed and placed on the driver's seat.

Taken were a 10-inch black and white television, a camera, two quarts of oil, hand-made craft items and a package of tools. The van was parked in Goelan's driveway at the time of the burglary.

Jan Langenstein, 140 Arlington Drive, said a burglar entered his car while it was parked in front of his home. Taken were a car telephone and approximately 10 tapes. Value of the items is $360.

Madison police

Store robbed by trio

Three men in their mid-40s distracted employees at Schermer's Market, 1127 Madison Ave., at 8:43 p.m. June 22 while one grabbed about $440 in $20 bills from a cashier's drawer. The intruder broke a juice bottle at the back of the store, and inquired about sunglasses, and a third man dropped coins onto the floor at a check-out lane.

City license crackdown

Twenty-seven have been given tickets for having no city license sticker displayed on their vehicle since the June 2 City Council meeting.

$300 taken from purse

Personal papers and about $300 in cash were taken from the purse of a Schnuck's grocery store employee, Sherry Fosnock of Gillespie, who discovered the purse missing after being called away from her station and returning at 3:30 p.m. June 22. The purse was recovered without money in a grocery store aisle.

Parked auto vandalized

Brett Broadwater, 1645 Moro Ave., said someone scratched drawings, dumped trash on his car and damaged the roof, hood, trunk and both sides early June 22 of the car.

Boy, 11, nabbed near car

An 11-year-old boy was taken to the Madison County Detention Home after he tried to enter a car parked at the emergency entrance of St. Elizabeth Medical Center June 21.

Man pushed, threatened

Randy Christy, 317 W. Chain of Rocks Road, reported that while he was in a parking lot in the 3400 block of Nameoki Road a man pushed him to the ground and threatened him June 20. Christy was in a leg cast and unable to defend himself.

Car hits crossing gate

David R. Milton, 32, of 2312 Washington Ave., was injured when his car hit a Granite City Steel crossing gate on 21st Street near Quincy Street at 5:47 a.m. June 13. Milton said he fell asleep at the wheel.

Police arrest man, 35

Mikel Brown, 35, of 1331 Madison Ave., was arrested at 3:16 a.m. June 21 in the 1000 block of Madison Avenue and charged with indecent exposure. He was released after posting $33 bail.

Swim pool is damaged

Fred Finazzo, 1720 Edwardsville Road, reported damage to his swimming pool at 10 a.m. June 10. Rocks and mud were thrown into the pool and $113 worth of chlorine was dumped in the pool, as were two pounds of insecticide. Several ceramic tiles were broken and the diving board was cracked.

Arrested on 3 charges

Craig Thomas, 22, of 2512 Madison Ave., was stopped in the 900 block of Iowa Street at 11:07 p.m. June 10 and charged with speeding, driving while his driver's license was suspended, and illegal transportation of alcohol.

Arrested, transferred

Judicious Kizeart, 18, of 215 Terry St., was arrested at the Madison Police Station and charged with probation violation at 2:52 p.m. June 10. He was transferred to the Madison County jail.

Arrested for battery

Charles Wilson, 36, of 1103 Reynolds St., was arrested at his home for battery at 7:28 p.m. June 10.

Man booked for battery

Billy J. Castle, 45, of Tennessee, was booked for battery at 8:43 p.m. June 17 after Elizabeth Stevenson, 2026 Washington Ave., alleged he slapped her twice across the face at her home.

Trespassing is charged

James Richard Keils, 19, of 2825 Lincoln Ave., was charged with criminal trespass and disorderly conduct at 1:43 a.m. June 18 at Henry Street and Lincoln Avenue after Leroy Stufflebeam alleged Keils swung a stick at him at his apartment at 3601 Kirkpatrick Homes. Cash bail was set at $104.

Cahokia man arrested

Jimmie Carl Peters, 35, of Cahokia, was arrested June 17 at Crossroads Shopping Center on a Collinsville warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of driving while under the influence. Cash bail was set at $202.

Man booked on warrant

George Henry Narp, 21, of 2650 Edwardsville Road, was arrested at 3 a.m. June 18 at Faith Avenue and Nameoki Road on a warrant that alleged failure to appear on a charge of aggravated assault. Cash bail was set at $102.

Pickup truck flips over

Debbie J. Geggus, 33, of 2265 Edison Ave., was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after her pickup truck, in the 2500 block of State Street, struck an Illinois Power pole and flipped over at 2:18 a.m. June 12. She was ticketed for reckless driving.

Recorder taken at home

A video cassette recorder was found to be missing from the home of Eugene Pospichal, 1827 Collinsville Ave., June 22.

Reports theft from store

Allen Berkbigler of Londell, Mo., owner of a shop at the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, reported a theft of merchandise at 5:29 p.m. June 12. He told officers a woman loaded property of the company into her car and also left with $1,500 cash.

8 truck tires stolen

Melvin Bridges of Bethalto reported June 15 that while his truck was parked at the Doran lot near Fox Brothers Road during the weekend, someone entered the parking lot and removed eight tires from his 1977 International truck.

Truck damaged, looted

A truck owned by P.F.I. Transportation was parked at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza on June 9 when the driver, George Langford of Fremont, Ohio, returned to the vehicle and found it damaged. An intruder had broken a side window to gain entry and took $100 in currency from his wallet and stole a money bag containing his papers and receipts.

County police

2 beat, rob local man

James Jones, of W. Chain of Rocks Road, said two men hit him with their fists and a pool cue and then took his watch and $185 cash at 2:41 a.m. June 12 in the 2500 block of Missouri Avenue. Jones said he had been playing pool with the men earlier. Suffering back pains and bleeding from his nose

Fireworks may spark arrests for offenders

GRANITE CITY — Those who choose to celebrate the Fourth of July holiday period with fireworks may find themselves, instead, facing a "fine" fine at the Granite City Police Department.

Police Chief Bill Harris said patrolmen will be arresting offenders this year, rather than issuing warnings.

"It seems like every year the emergency rooms have to treat those getting hurt," Harris said. He hopes the more stringent enforcement of the city's fireworks ordinance will help prevent such accidents.

A city ordinance, which supports a state statute, prohibits the sale, storage and discharge of any fireworks or pyrotechnic displays. Penalties range from $5 to $100.

Harris said the department is already "beginning to receive a lot of calls" from residents complaining about fireworks being set off in their neighborhoods, but no arrests have been made yet this year.

Sparklers are not considered illegal under the city ordinance.

Court dispositions

Cottrell not guilty of armed robbery charge

James D. Cottrell, 22, of 67 Kaseberg Park, Pontoon Beach, was found not guilty June 18 in a trial on an armed robbery charge. A jury found Cottrell innocent in a trial before Chief Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson.

The charge was filed Oct. 7, 1986, by Pontoon Beach authorities. Cottrell was armed with a gun and robbed the Spartan Gas service station, located on Illinois 111, at 9:05 p.m. Sept. 4, 1986.

2 sentenced for burglary

Two St. Louis men have been sentenced in connection with a burglary that occurred in Granite City this year.

Elvold D. Brooksher, 31, and D. L. McMillen, 33, both pleaded guilty June 15 to reduced charges of burglary. They were sentenced by Chief Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson to three years of probation, with each ordered to pay $95 court costs.

The men burglarized the home of David Brewer, 4001 Braden Ave., on Jan. 8. An original charge of residential burglary was filed Jan. 9 by Granite City police.

Prison term for forgery

Donald D. White, 24, of Collinsville, pleaded guilty and was sentenced June 19 on seven counts of forgery.

White was sentenced by Madison County Associate Judge Lolla Maddox to two years in prison and was ordered to pay $300 court costs. The charges were filed May 22 by Granite City authorities.

Aux., Aerie name officers

1987-88 officers for the Fraternal Order of Eagles Aerie 1126 and Auxiliary were installed at the Eagles Home, 2558 Madison Ave.

Roy Hill said the opening prayer, and installing chairmen for the ceremony were Randy H. Odum for the Aerie and Local Barylski for the Auxiliary.

Installing presidents were Thomas Mundy and Angie Buehler, and the installing conductors included Harold Love and Florence Stokes, Helen Paschedag, as vice president, Roy Hill, as chaplain, and Lola Barylski, as inside guard were the remaining installing officers.

The installing conductors were escorted by Mrs. Barylski to the altar, where Mundy instructed them to escort the newly elected officers into the meeting room, where the pledge of allegiance was recited, and after introductions, were presented with their badge of office.

Aerie officers installed were: president Don Horn, junior past president Bud Luther, Shaffer, vice president Bob Hogan, secretary John A. Aubuchon, pro-tem John Hayes, Chaplain Jack Orwig, treasurer Lou Tourse, conductor Bob Stanton, inside guard Elmer Deloney, 3-year trustee Randy Odum, pro-tem Bill Aitkens, 2-year trustee Howard Reinhardt, and 1-year trustee Chris VonNida, pro-tem Mike Scarborough.

Auxiliary officers installed were: president Yvonne Gray, past president Linda Clayton, pro-tem Dee Klesh, vice president Susie Oliver, Chaplain Florence Stokes, pro-tem Bernia Brinza, secretary Ruth Jorgenson, treasurer Virginia McCall, conductor Wanda Bailey, inside guard Marilyn Laycock, outside guard Wanda Aitkens, 1-year trustee Angie Buehler, pro-tem Sharon Cass, 2-year trustee Florence "Fuzz" Hagnauer, and 3-year trustee Vincene Zerlan. "Eagle of the Year" award was presented to Howard Reinhardt and Angie Buehler was named Auxiliary Mother of the Year and given a plaque.

Don Horn, the new Aerie president, presented the past president's ring, an engraved gold plaque and past president's citation, which were signed by Grand Worthy President Jerry Wilson and Grand Worthy Secretary D.D. "Doc" Dunlap, to Bud Schaffer, the retiring Aerie president, vesting him with the title of past president.

Shaffer reviewed activities of his year in office.

After the ceremonies, a dinner was served in the clubroom following the blessing by Chaplain Jack Orwig.

Dancing, with music furnished by the Horizons, concluded the evening.

GOP Women attend convention

Madison County Republican Women joined groups from 11 other Southern Illinois counties in Mount Vernon June 18 for a regional conference with National Federation of Republican Women (NFRW) regional field directors. The goal was to bring NFRW closer to each individual and club.

State President Regina Benson of Sparta introduced NFRW Secretary Lou Brown, of Texas, as special field leader. She was accompanied by NFRW Third Vice President Mary Jo Arndt of Illinois. Topics covered included leadership, recruiting, club organization, fundraising and the group's national convention in Orlando, Fla., Sept. 18, 19 and 20.

This meeting served as a kickoff for observance of the 50th anniversary of the Federation in 1938 at Chicago, where it was started in 1938.

Members learned that in 1988 women voters will, for the first time, outnumber men voters. Evelyn Mandis and Vernice Walter represented the Granite City Club and came home with information and materials to be utilized in the future.

The Granite City club will begin its fall meetings Aug. 22 at 11:30 a.m. at Jerry's Cafeteria.

Church reaches 125th birthday in Granite City

St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road, will be celebrating its 125th anniversary Sunday, June 28, with special worship services and a birthday party.

St. John Church was born. Fourteen German farmers met at the old Ben Wood School three miles east of Granite City to organize a congregation for the German Protestants of the community.

Sunday's day of celebration will begin with special worship services at 9 and 10:30 a.m. The services will include the Sacrament of Holy Communion and presentation of several choral selections by the Chancel Choir. Theme of the worship will be "A Look at the Past."

During the afternoon, the celebration will continue as the congregation joins together on the church grounds for a picnic, with activities for all ages. Included will be a dunking booth in which both pastors will take their turn. There will be children's games and activities for adults, including horse shoes, volleyball, a cake walk and a white elephant auction.

Flings of the 100th and 110th anniversaries will be shown during the afternoon. Evening activities will begin with a potluck dinner which will feature a birthday cake 531 feet, designed and decorated by members of the congregation.

Following dinner, several young men of the church will present a re-enactment of the historic meeting on June 28, 1862, when the St. John congregation was formed. The day will conclude with vesper services in the sanctuary.

John Church is served by Pastor Allen Reiter and Associate Pastor James Benzing. Alan Milster is the music director and organist.

Student council elects '87-88 officers

The Glik Retirees met on June 18, at the home of Juanita Rosenberg. After lunch at the Black Swan in Collinsville, the group returned to the Rosenberg home for an afternoon of cards. Attending were Nell Talley, Celeste Johnson, Mary Baumbarger, Van Stuart, Alberto Mikolajuk, Helen Knezevich, Millie Sherman, Jane Duncan and Mary Moore.

The junior members of the Student Council at Madison High School held elections for 1987-88 officers. DeAnn Weidner was elected president. Vice president is Dawn Hamm; secretary, Melissa Hahn; treasurer, Beth Poston; and corresponding secretary, Rashawn Mathews.

The Polish Roman Catholic Union Dancers of Polish Hall performed at the Polish Heritage Festival at St. Louis Union Station on June 20 at 3 p.m. This was the second annual festival held at Union Station.

Festivities featured portrait painting, demonstration and teaching of Polish paper-cutting, and egg decorating. Booths sold food, almanacs, T-shirts and Polish items.

Regina Forsy is the director of the group. Performing on the indoor stage were dance instructor Lisa Donah and Lisa, Stephanie and Chris Kull, Toni Mendez, Wendy Budnicki, Cindy Bisto, Jennifer Stimac, Linda Donah and Melissa Kusmier.

Derek Guardiola was presented the Arrow of Light in a ceremony.

Hoffstetter murder trial begins

EDWARDSVILLE — The Granite City attorney for Steven D. Hoffstetter, on trial in three 1985 slayings, told jurors Tuesday he will show that others committed the crimes.

"The prosecutor has some evidence, but the prosecutor has the wrong man in the defendant's chair," said attorney Michael Bilbrey in his opening statement at Hoffstetter's trial.

Hoffstetter, 28, of Alton is charged with three counts of murder and one count of each of home invasion and armed robbery in the 1985 slayings of Christopher Shrom, 26, Kevin Burch, 25, and Della Riggins, 20.

Their bodies were found at 5:45 a.m. Oct. 7, 1985 in the rubble of a house fire on Snome Road, northwest of Edwardsville. The victims had been shot before the fire.

Mr. Burch and Miss Riggins were former Granite City residents.

Another Alton man, Anthony E. Fisher, 26, faces the same charges in the case and is awaiting trial.

"We intend to show you that someone else committed these crimes," Bilbrey said.

Bilbrey urged jurors to carefully consider the credibility of prosecution witnesses. He said Tina Rose, expected to be the state's key witness, is "street smart" and told investigators a story designed to protect herself and the real killers.

Rose was allegedly with Hoffstetter the night of the killings. But Bilbrey said he would call a witness who was told by Rose that Fisher and two other men, not Hoffstetter, went to the farmhouse.

Rose, 26, of Alton is charged with home invasion and armed robbery in the case. Bilbrey said she will not be prosecuted on those charges and will receive favorable treatment on unrelated charges.

Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone told the jury in an opening statement that the killing was "drug oriented." Trone said Mr. Shrom bought marijuana and other drugs from Hoffstetter and hadn't paid for them.

"Kevin Burch and Della Riggins were the victims of a situation they weren't aware of," Trone said.

He said Rose drove Hoffstetter and Fisher to Mr. Shrom's home. Hoffstetter went inside then returned and said he had obtained no money. The three went to an area tavern then decided to go back to Mr. Shrom's house, Trone said.

"They were going to rip them off," Trone told the jurors. "They were going to get some money and some drugs."

As they approached the house, Rose demanded to get out of the car and waited in a corn field while Fisher and Hoffstetter went to the house, Trone said. When the men returned, there was blood on Hoffstetter's boots and Fisher talked of shooting someone, Trone said. The men had obtained some money and drugs.

Trone said Hoffstetter later told a fellow inmate at the Madison County Jail that he "killed the girl and one of the guys."

Warfield

Street superintendent won't sign overcharges

things," Warfield said. In one instance, Warfield said he did not know Insituform had been authorized to move to a different sewer repair location until he drove by and saw people working on the Richmond Avenue sewer line.

"I didn't know about that either. They had moved and that's not right," Warfield said. Warfield said he wondered who approved the change orders for the city because companies requesting the orders have spent money beyond original contracts with the city without his or the council's approval. The companies have since asked the city to pay for the extra work.

All sewer repair outlays come out of the Street Department's budget.

At least one $38,000 change order request was forwarded to acting City Engineer Ed Schulze.

General Gunite and Construction Co. recently billed the city for $38,000 for the original $125,000 contract. The company said it had to use 620 bags of cement to fill an unexpected large hole in repairing a sewer line. The main contractor for the project, Horner & Shifrin, determined the city owed the company about $38,000 of the extra bill.

The council approved that amount after questioning who authorized the extra work, though Warfield and city Controller Ed Miklovic said they did not approve the extra work.

In Horner & Shifrin's letter or May 29 to Schulze, the company requested reimbursement with Schulze about the construction problems and overcharges.

It was not clear if Schulze approved the extra work. "I wasn't consulted about the cement until it had been done. When they sent me the invoice, I thought that was a heck of a lot of money," Warfield said.

Warfield said he refused to approve the change order and does not know who authorized the work, he said he suspected that someone from the city authorized it.

Schulze is on vacation and could not be reached for comment. But Miklovic said he thought Schulze may have approved the extra work. "I don't know... I suspect Ed (approved). Maybe nobody did," Miklovic said Monday.

Miklovic said he does not pay change order requests unless payment is authorized by the council. He also said that in the future, he would not pay sewer change orders without Warfield's approval.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said he did not know if Schulze authorized the change orders and said better communication is needed between Warfield and Schulze on sewer projects.

"They've got to work together. He (Schulze) is the engineer but Mac has the responsibility."

We've got to get some clear business procedures here. Whenever Schulze gets back, we'll talk about it," Cruse said.

Cruse said he is unsure who should authorize extra contractual work for the city when an immediate decision must be made, such as with the cement work.

Fourth Ward Alderwoman Sharon Perjak said at the June 16 meeting that if Schulze authorized the change orders, he had no authority to do so.

Perjak and other aldermen have been critical of Schulze on several issues.

On Tuesday, several aldermen accused Schulze of waiving a performance bond for a contractor who was awarded a contract by the city to make repairs on the local sewer at the Street Department building. The contractor, Perigen Construction Co. of Granite City, has not performed any work. The city canceled the contract Tuesday and will re-bid the job.

Don Partney, building committee chairman, said Perigen apparently failed to qualify for a performance bond.

IEPA warns lawsuit might halt grants

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency may not be able to completely fulfill grant obligations for planning and enforcement programs in Madison and St. Clair counties due to a class action suit filed by a group of landfill owner-operators and refuse hauling firms challenging the constitutional merits of the state's Solid Waste Management Act.

Funding for the local programs come through the Solid Waste Management Act intended to reduce reliance on landfill disposal of garbage and increase the number of inspections at existing disposal sites. The IEPA is appealing a court ruling requiring all fee payments collected under the act to be deposited into a "protect fund."

Unique state funding to combat Alzheimer's

Five Alzheimer's Disease Research Grants awarded last year have been renewed for a second year by the Illinois Department of Public Health. The money comes from the more than $120,000 contributed by Illinois taxpayers through the 1986 income-tax checkoff.

Illinois is the only state in the nation to fund Alzheimer's research through the checkoff program. The disease, marked by a progressive and irreversible loss of mental faculties, is suffered by about 111,000 state residents.

Partney

Partney can drive, according to judge

Edgar, said an injunction would be honored and Partney's license would not appear on a police computer as being suspended.

"I feel good about the whole thing. I told my son to have my car washed and cleaned up," said Partney, who said his son had been driving him to work.

Partney said he would try to have the license reinstated by Granite City police dismissed.

Because Partney's license was suspended as suspended and despite Partney's order, Partney was arrested twice in 90 minutes by Granite City police on June 10 for driving with a suspended license.

Partney was found guilty of the DUI charge last week by a jury.

No date has been set for Partney's probable cause appeal in the 5th Appellate Court in Mt. Vernon. Partney apparently will be allowed to drive until the appeal is heard.

If the appeal is lost, Partney said he would "pay the price like anyone else" and not drive for five months. His license was already suspended for one month.

"I'm willing to pay my price," said Partney, who said his son whether those officers using that unmarked car will pay any price," Partney said, referring to testimony at Partney's DUI trial that four off-duty officers visited several bars, drank beer and drove an unmarked police car the evening of Partney's arrest.

Partney's comment on anything that is still pending," said Police Chief Bill Harris about the testimony. "Everything is still being checked into. The matter is not closed."

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said that disciplinary action could be taken if any officers were found to be using city vehicles after drinking.

Trivia

The first Granite City club was organized March 25, 1897. It was called the Ladies' Coterie and was organized by Mrs. Frank Hanson. Mrs. George Wedd, Mrs. James Chase and Mrs. J.G. McRoberts. The club was and is chartered by the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Vietnam Memorial

Parks College hosts traveling wall

By Bill Milligan

Editor

CAHOKIA — Angela Marino cried as she was led away from the Vietnam War Memorial replica that was on display at Parks College.

She had just seen the names of two friends she never got the chance to bid goodbye.

"When I saw their names on the wall, it devastated me," Marino said. "I've known of their deaths for years. Seeing their names there reminded me they are gone. Their deaths became a reality for me."

Marino was one of thousands who left the wall with the same feeling.

Many said they were surprised the wall could evoke such feeling in them.

The feeling was one of tragedy and loss and one of hope that no nation would ever suffer the same feeling of loss again.

For some, the feeling was of acquaintance. Thousands of American flags were placed at the base of the memorial. Hundreds of letters to lost loved ones were pasted to the wall, a silent attempt to communicate with those beyond the veil.

"Dear Bob
I remember you going to Vietnam. I was 3 then, but now I am 23.

I also remember mom telling me about you. The last thing she told me about you is that you're my father.

Well dad, mom's been dead for 10 years. I was alone in my mind until I found your name on the wall.

Love, Bob Jr."

Dozens of veterans walked the wall, helping people find the names of lost loved ones and fallen comrades; comforting those whose emotions overtook them.

The warmth and compassion seemed a stark contrast to the war which the wall commemorates.

"This wall is a strong reminder," said Jim Otto of St. Louis. Otto was a special forces officer in the early part of the war. He said he was never "officially" in Vietnam, but rather part of a training group which organized fighting units outside that Southeast Asian country.

"I wish the memories of combat would go away, but I hold the memory of my comrades very dear," Otto said.

Otto spent nearly every day at the wall.

He said many strong men had broken after seeing the names of friends.

"I helped seven vets away from the wall on Monday," Otto said. "Some of them had seen the names of people they remembered the people behind the names inscribed on the traveling memorial.

thought had returned."

Along with veterans who visited the wall in battle dress were contemporary servicemen who wanted to get closer to the history of their unit.

Sgt. Debra Cousar is stationed in St. Louis. She came expecting to see a wall of black pexiglass. While at the wall, she reflected on her present service.

"It seems so useless to be sitting behind a desk, pushing a pencil," she said. "It's frustrating when you think of the service and sacrifice these people (pointing at the wall) made for our country."

Others expressed sadness over the emotional pain that families still feel in connection with the loss of a loved one.

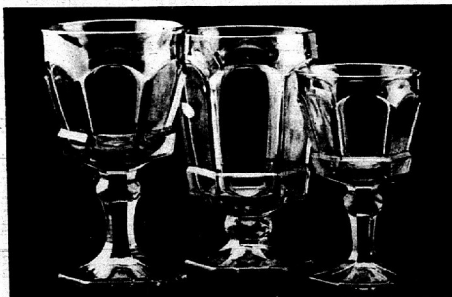

"The war didn't end in 1975," said Betty Eugea, of Belleville. "The people that died, their families still feel the loss. The emotional pain, the suffering of those who were disabled in the war will never end."

"I just hope we learned something from that war. I think it's neat the Vietnam veterans are finally getting the recognition they deserve," Eugea said.

Leaders urged to review police problems while time remains

The Granite City Police Department is in crisis. Morale is low. Allegations of impropriety are rampant.

There's been a breakdown. Mayor Von Dee Cruse should establish an ad hoc committee to examine the department's problems and recommend solutions. The council committee could model itself, to a degree, after Congressional committees.

It is difficult to imagine the mayor and Police Chief Bill Harris being able, by themselves, to determine the extent of the department's problems and then solve them. If that was possible, the on-going problems wouldn't be going on.

Harris is too close to the action and Cruse is too close to Harris, his appointee, for either to be expected to view the matter with the detachment and objectivity that the detachment of the police department's troubles are paraded before the public, are endowed with the public's trust and offer fewer entanglements if asked to deal with the continuing revelations of police problems. Cruse should use the aldermen.

Almost weekly, more problems in the department surface.

Breakdown — Members of the department are being investigated.

The Division of Criminal Investigation is trying to determine how James Reader and David Rosenberg scored the highest in the nation on a sergeant test. Some say questioning them is political.

Breakdown — Police acknowledge bar-hopping in a police car.

In open court, during the trial of David Partney on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol, several policemen admitted to using a police car to drive from bar to bar. They drank for hours, including at Kramden's, a bar in Madison. Though not using the car, during the same drinking spree some of the policemen later went to the Red Garter in Brooklyn. Topless dancing, drinking, policemen using a police car for bar-hopping. The possibility of an accident and lawsuit should make residents shudder.

Breakdown — Drug use in the department is alleged.

Drug testing for members of the city's fire and police departments is urged by 4th Ward Alderwoman Sharon Perjak. There are "heavy users" in the department, she said Wednesday. She's been saying it for months. There's reason to believe her.

Breakdown — A man is dead. Jail cells are supposed to be checked each half hour. Two hours passed before Bradley Pennabaker's cell was checked on Sunday. He was found hanged to death. A lawsuit would surprise no one and taxpayers would pay any cost.

Other allegations are being made. With further substantiation, they will also surface.

Taken together, the department's problems deserve immediate attention.

The mayor can provide that attention by asking the aldermen to get involved. They should question how these situations arose and offer advice to stop recurring problems.

The department's problems are many and indications are they will increase. The situation is beyond serious.

There's been a breakdown.

Polio needs to be stopped

Polio — that's the crippling disease once known as infantile paralysis; it affected President Franklin D. Roosevelt and many other adults and children, and was largely eradicated by a vaccine, prior to the present generation. Correct? Unfortunately, no.

The statements are factual, except that polio continues to flourish in many nations, particularly those that are impoverished.

Rotary clubs are embarking on a five-year program in the hope of ending polio, and we wish them success.

Upwards of $120 million will be raised and spent, and any funds left-over will be applied to similar efforts to deliver a knockout punch to measles, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and tuberculosis. More than a half-million dollars will be raised in the local district (central and southwestern Illinois), which is to be led in 1987-88 by Richard Suss of Granite City.

It is an ambitious task, but one that can be accomplished if there is adequate funding and perseverance. Pilot programs, including one in the Philippines, have shown that the chosen approach can succeed. It calls for a combination of international coordination and local-level support. The latter backing is assured by the presence of Rotary clubs everywhere in the non-communist area of the globe (161 countries).

A big plus is the availability of volunteers. Many doctors are not charging for their help, and much of the vaccine is being donated. Only about 12 cents will be expended for each child vaccinated.

This is a tremendous bargain. But even if the costs were greater, the objective of better health — for people of all ages and all nationalities — would be worthwhile.

Efforts to improve children's health were begun eight years ago by the service organization through its Health, Hunger and Humanities program. Now, activities are being concentrated on wiping out a series of serious ailments. The name of the campaign, Polio-Plus, sums it up: Polio is the primary target, plus all other diseases that can be conquered.

Polio is difficult to treat but it can be avoided entirely through widespread use of the anti-polio vaccine. Any disease that can be prevented, surely ought to be. The massive drive that will be launched this fall is based directly on that philosophy.

Readers react

Is court ruling fair to states?

The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that it is OK for the federal government to withhold highway tax money from states that do not raise their minimum drinking age to at least 21. Do you see this as an infringement of states' rights and do you think this could set a precedent for states to qualify for federal tax money?

Phil Stout, Granite City

Well the highways do need to be fixed, but it looks like the states should handle their own laws.

Clarence Chamberlain, Madison

"No, it ain't right for them (the federal government) to do it. If we pay taxes we ought to have something to say about it."

Leonard Barton, Granite City

"I'm against it. Let the states rule their own. I though the states are supposed to make their own laws. If they (the federal government) get away with this they're going to try something else."

Graduate rips policy; he also 'Partneyville' was forced out

To the editor:

It was with great disappointment that I read your June 11 front page story regarding the graduation policy enforcement by the District 9 superintendent. I am not criticizing the objective reporting of the facts by your paper. My disappointment comes from the history repeated itself. It is very ironic that the academicians that demand we study and learn history in order to avoid repeating mistakes are destined to perform the same stupid acts in the name of policy.

I was a member of the 1981 graduating class of Granite City High School/North. Although I had received numerous academic honors performed free computer work for the School Board and had never received official disciplinary actions (detention hours), I too was barred from participating in my graduation ceremonies.

I had responsibilities as the Centaurus Computer Store manager. When another employee scheduled to open the store the morning of graduation rehearsal called in sick and no one else was available, I was forced to leave the rehearsal early to open the store.

I tried to explain to Principal (Gib) Walsley what the situation was but he would not listen. It was simple to him: If I left, I would not graduate. Graduation night I attended the ceremonies anyway as a member of the band, not as a member of the graduating class. I played my own graduation procession while Mr. Walsley threatened to have my father arrested. He was considerate enough to offer to read my name in the list of students who maintained over a 5.0 grade point average. I declined the offer.

To those students who had such an empty ending to one of the most important events in their lives, I express my deepest sorrow. However, until the residents of Granite City, the town I still call "home," wake up and hold their public officials accountable for such tyrannical behavior, I believe that this story will be repeated quite often. When a public official falls back on the time worn excuse "it's company (or school board) policy" then maybe it is time to replace that official with someone who recognizes that a policy is just a general guideline for which exceptions will occur. A policy is not something "cast in granite." Hopefully not "cast" in Granite City either.

ALLEN S. JORGENSEN
10480 Ash Hill Drive
Alpharetta, Georgia

This is not 'Partneyville'

To the editor:

It seems to me and many others I have spoken to in Granite City that Mr. David Partney thinks all laws, rules and regulations are made for everyone but him.

Whether set-up for arrest or not, the DUI (driving under the influence charge) should stand.

When a breathalyzer test is refused by a driver, the state law requires automatic suspension of a driver's license. Does the state law say this is for everyone but David Partney?

On the front page of the Press-Record David Partney was shown blatantly ignoring a "No Smoking" sign. Is this another example of rules for others?

I totally back our local police department for all their actions concerning Mr. Partney. They have always shown themselves to be a group of well trained, dedicated men.

I am really tired of all the front page stories concerning Partney escapades. Being a member of the Board of Education, he should be backing city officials and employees, not ridiculing them every chance he gets.

He should also be setting a good example for the children in this area. I, personally, do not want my children to see this type of person holding any official position. This is Granite City, not Partneyville.

MRS. CYNTHIA WHITT

Letters policy

The Granite City Press-Record welcomes letters to the editor. The newspaper provides the "Letters" column to give readers an opportunity to voice opinions on various items of interest.

Letters should be brief. Typed letters, or letters that are neatly written are given priority treatment. Preference is also given to locally originated letters, but letters from outside the area are accepted.

Each letter must be signed and include the telephone number of the author. Authors may be called for verification purposes. Authors' names may be withheld on request, but the newspaper prefers to print names. There should be a clear reason given to the newspaper for why any name should not be used.

Letters are used as space permits in each of the three issues per week.

The Granite City Press-Record reserves the right to edit letters. Letters may be edited to conform with the newspaper's standards of style, punctuation, grammar and spelling. Long letters may be shortened. Letters containing libel will be edited to delete the libel, or not used. The letter's tone or intention will not be changed.

Communism costing us

President Reagan considers arming the contras such paramount importance that he has been willing to risk "everything" to flush the communists out of Latin America.

If the president loses — and his freedom fighters lose — and Nicaragua remains a communist country — what's it to us?

The immediate impact on us would be a new flood tide of refugees seeking political sanctuary in the United States.

Neighboring El Salvador does not want to be overwhelmed with refugees from Nicaragua.

Neighboring Honduras does not want them, fearing their presence would "destabilize" the Honduran economy.

So the contras — mostly illiterate peasants — would inevitably seek sanctuary in the United States.

Susan Kaufman Purcell, an expert on Latin America in the Council on Foreign Relations, said, "If Americans are chafing now at having to spend a hundred million dollars a year to support the contras, wait until they see what they will have to spend to contain the Sandinistas after the contras are disbanded."

She means that if the contras fail then much of Latin America — possibly including Mexico — would go communist.

The president could order a United States military takeover of Nicaragua — this Congress could not prevent.

But the president has elected to let the contras fight for their own country with comparatively nominal aid from us.

In the 1960s Castro tried to export his Cuban brand of communism to the Dominican Republic, Colombia, Venezuela and Bolivia.

He failed largely because the United States, at the same time, was sponsoring social programs and military training in Latin America.

Left-wing movements in Central America have lost strength in recent years. But should Managua's neighbors get flooded with refugees from Nicaragua — compounding housing and employment problems — those social pressures could go into reverse.

This, at least, is the Reagan rationale — to quarantine communism in Nicaragua. He's made it work for seven years.

CAHOKIA — For 20 years, Dorothy Lippert has cried tears of anger and frustration. She hasn't been able to shed tears of grief, she says, because she doesn't know what happened to her son, Timothy Bodison, who was shot down over Southeast Asia on June 4, 1967.

Lippert, 66, of Decatur, spoke recently to a crowd gathered near the half-size traveling replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial at Parks College in Cahokia.

"We know there are over 400 bodies in some warehouse in Hanoi," Lippert said. "Don't you think it makes my blood run cold?"

The mystery is agonizing, but something can be done if people speak up, especially those like her who are retired and have the time to write letters, she said.

"It's going to help my heart to know what's happened to him," Lippert said. "I'm just left in that awful darkness of not knowing."

Among those listening to her were veterans clad in their combat fatigues. Along with patches featuring the black-and-white POW/MIA logo, many wore their hearts on their sleeves.

Men embraced one another. Their tears flowed freely. During silences, muffled sobs could be heard.

And the voices at the microphone quivered with emotion. One of the speakers was state Rep. Ron Stephens, R-Caseyville, a Vietnam veteran.

Rusty Carmichael, 42, of Farmington, Mo., told the crowd he doesn't want anyone to forget the more than 2,400 Americans who still are missing in Southeast Asia. Carmichael, a veteran of the 1968 Tet offensive, drives a black pickup truck emblazoned with messages about POW/MIAs.

"You and I are their only hope — the only hope our MIA brothers have left," said Carmichael, who was dressed in black. MIAs are "our highest national priority," he said.

"As combat veterans — my God — as human beings, we must demand that our government do more. I'm not asking for your help. I'm begging for it."

Behind the podium, the wall glinted in bright sunlight. A (See MIA/POW, Page 4B)

• Wall — Vietnam Memorial recalls time of tragedy

For a portion of those who viewed the wall, there was still a higher lesson to be learned from the emotion brought on by the wall.

Foreign students at Parks College were moved by the turnout and the feeling.

"I appreciate the sacrifice these people made for their country," said Collin Melling, of Malaysia.

"In my country, we don't have this type of thing," he said. "I began to understand what this meant when I saw a lady coming away from the wall crying."

Many who visited the wall thanked the veterans who operated information booths at either end of the structure. Many said they would probably never get the chance to go to Washington and see the original.

Some said seeing the wall had helped end their confusion about the war.

Everyone who visited left with the same thought in mind. "I hope we never have to go through this again," said Eugene.

Sean Garrett

Sean A. Garrett recently enlisted in the United States Navy for guaranteed training at the Navy's Seaman Apprentice School.

The son of Craig and Linda Garrett of Madison, Sean is a 1987 graduate of Madison High School. He enlisted under the Delayed Entry Program and will report for active duty in July to Great Lakes Naval Training Center, where he will take basic training.

After finishing basic courses, Garrett will continue at Great Lakes taking four weeks of schooling in the seaman apprentice field. Through the program, persons who have not chosen a specific career field receive general shipboard and nautical training prior to being assigned to a Navy ship.

Once shipboard, they may then elect to train in a job or request additional Navy schooling in a field for which they are qualified.

Chief Petty Officer Ron Bates of the Granite City Navy Recruiting Station and Garrett's recruiter, said Sean may go on to additional schooling or be assigned to any one of the Navy's duty stations around the world.

Michaelann Lambert

Airman 1st Class Michaelann Lambert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine P. Lambert, 2337 Delta Ave., has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Lambert is a 1986 graduate of Granite City High School. In the six weeks training program, she studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

Lambert also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Kimberly Owens
Army Pvt. Kimberly Y. Owens, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Wilbur Y. Owens, 1001 Allen St., Eagle Park, has completed an Army administration course at Fort Jackson, S.C.

A 1986 graduate of Madison High School, Owens was trained in the preparation of military records and forms. Instruction also was given in the fundamentals of the Army filing system, typing and operation of office machines.

Johnnie Jackson
Marine Pfc. Johnnie L. Jackson, son of James Savage, 306 Allen St., Eagle Park, recently participated in Exercise Solid Shield 87 with the 2nd Marine Division from Camp Lejeune, N.C.

During the exercise, conducted in and around the United States and Honduras, Jackson took part in extensive air and sea operations. The exercise emphasizes command and control of military forces and combined coordinated operations with a friendly nation in a simulated combat environment.

More than 40,000 soldiers, sailors, airmen, Marines and Coast Guardsmen took part in Solid Shield, which afforded an opportunity to employ and evaluate the joint interoperability of military units from all U.S. services.

Jackson, who graduated from Jesup W. Scott High School in Toledo, Ohio, joined the Marine Corps in November 1986. He was recently promoted to his present rank.

Tony Lopez

Army Pvt. Tony A. Lopez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred (Linda) Morjan, 3019 Mockingbird Lane, has arrived for duty with the United States Army Garrison at Fort Devens, Mass.

Lopez is a personnel management specialist.

William Weatherly

William M. Weatherly, whose wife, Gail, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmos (Mignon) Nickell, 2662 Missouri Ave., has been promoted to chief master, the highest enlisted grade in the U.S. Air Force.

An evaluation branch superintendent with the 1866th Facility Checking Squadron at Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, Weatherly is the son of Richard E. Weatherly of Mount Vernon. He received an associate degree in business from the Community College of the Air Force.

Jeffrey Sellers

Navy Seaman Recruit Jeffrey A. Sellers, son of Eldred G. Sellers, 1845 Spring Ave., has completed recruit training at Great Lakes Naval Recruit Training Command.

A 1986 graduate of Gillespie High School, Sellers joined the Navy in March 1987.

Dianna Wright

Staff Sgt. Dianna M. Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. (Virginia) Tondre, 724 26th St., has been decorated with the Army Commendation Medal in South Korea.

WAR HERO: Retired Special Forces commander Francis J. "Black Jack" Kelly addressed the Cahokia Chamber of Commerce June 3 at the Kitty Hawk Lounge. Kelly was one of the nation's few heroes to emerge as a result of the war.

woman reached out and placed a single yellow rose on the memorial, above the name of her boyfriend. At her feet were hundreds of tiny American flags, stuck into the ground below the panels where parents and friends had found the names of their loved ones.

Charlie Smith's eyes were moist as he stood holding a flag near the podium. He wore a metal bracelet with an MIA's name on it.

Smith was encouraged that his countrymen have begun to accept the Vietnam veterans.

"It's heartwarming, to say the least," said Smith, 38, of Granite City, who served in Da Nang in 1968 and 1969. "It's hard to overlook the scars that were made. But the people of the United States are resilient."

The Army Commendation Medal is awarded to those individuals who demonstrate outstanding achievement or meritorious service in the performance of their duties on behalf of the Army.

A 1960 graduate of Granite City High School, Wright is an administrative specialist with the 34th

Smith embraced another vet, Dave Owens of Marissa, who was overcome by sobs when Britt Small and his group sang "The Wall," a haunting melody made even more poignant a capella. Smith, Owens and several others, among them a vet in a wheelchair, joined hands and added their voices.

"The price we pay for freedom," the crowd sang with Small, "is written on the wall."

But the name of Timothy Rodden, who would have been 43 this year, is not written on the wall.

"His mother's emotions are trapped in a no man's land."

"We cannot go through that process of grieving," Dorothy Lippert said. "It is still an open wound."

Support GroupCraig Cavins

Marine Cpl. Craig S. Cavins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. (Marion) Cavins, 2023 Madison Ave., recently participated in Exercise Kernel Usher with the 1st Marine Division at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

During the month-long deployment, Cavins participated in various exercises including a landing exercise, night attack, medical evacuation and a Prisoner of War handling course.

A 1964 graduate of Granite City High School, Cavins joined the Marine Corps in June 1985.

Gary Hopkins

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Gary E. Hopkins, son of Melva R. Hopkins, 2161 Monroe Ave., recently participated in Operation Sea Dragon '87 with the 21st Reserve Naval Construction Regiment at the Naval Construction Battalion Center at Davisville, R.I.

The training exercise was designed to enhance the combat readiness of Reserve units. Hopkins is a 1966 graduate of Madison High School and joined the Navy Reserves in August 1966.

What kind of father lets his kid work for nickels & dimes?

A father who recognizes that a newspaper carrier route can provide a youngster with much more than spending money.

It can teach the sweetest of self-reliance and taking your own way. It can teach the boy about responsibility and getting along with fellow carriers, about business, and about what you owe customers and what this means to you.

It can teach pride, responsibility and being "in there" doing what has to be done and doing it right.

If you'd like this for your youngster, suggest that he or she call our circulation department and ask about a newspaper route.

Oh, and about the money, it'll go to the kids and does very much to help his dreams.

One out of ten women will develop breast cancer.

Perhaps the two most frightening words to a woman are breast cancer. The number one killer of females, breast cancer is a disease caused by an uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells in the breast tissue. But with detection, effective treatment can be started immediately, thereby improving the patient's prognosis.

The survival rate among women who find cancer before it is noticeable is 97 percent.

To answer the need for early detection of breast disease, St. Elizabeth Medical Center has established the Breast Diagnostic Program, which provides mammographies at almost one-fourth the cost of such procedures being done elsewhere. A convenient diagnostic procedure, mammograms provide patients with high quality, high sensitivity images with minimal radiation exposure.

Following the American Cancer Society's guidelines, this simple, painless exam is currently the best method of detecting breast disease. The ACS recommends all women age 35 to 40 have an initial, routine mammogram; diagnostic exams periodically between age 40 and 50; and yearly exams after age 50.

How many will detect it in time?

Scheduling for the general public will begin Monday, June 1, and will end on Friday, July 31. Normally, such a procedure would cost $95 to $100. Subsidized by the Gusie Glik Cancer Fund, this procedure is now available for a limited time for only $25, which includes the interpretation fee. A physician's referral is required.

Indian day Sunday
The annual Indian Culture Day, sponsored by the Corps of Engineers, will be Sunday at Carlyle Lake. The event will be held in and around the Visitor Center from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Displays and demonstrations include Kahok Indian dancers, Indian food displays, storytelling and bow and arrow making.

A cigar by any other name would smell as sweet.....

If you're going to do something illegal, why not call it something legal and the authorities will be none the wiser, right? Wrong.

Drug traffickers decided pizza parlors might be an ideal "front" for their operations, in such states as Illinois, New York and New Jersey. Key mobsters were convicted in what has become known as the "pizza connection" drug case, and some are being sentenced this week.

No local restaurants (pizza or otherwise) were involved, but we mention it because it brings back memories of Granite City many years ago, when this city was the location of a half-dozen or so cigar stores, all apparently busy and prosperous.

The reasoning was that cigar stores sounded harmless enough, even though it seemed peculiar that Granite City would have had that big a passion for the aroma of sweet-smelling panatela smoke.

Law enforcement officials conducted occasional raids on most of the cigar establishments, contending the stores' main business was illegal horsecar betting.

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

Samuel H. Shapiro, who died this spring, was not as well-known as some of his fellow Illinois governors. But he was well-liked by officials and citizens, although he lost to Republican Richard Ogilvie in November 1968. That was the occasion when voters simultaneously elected Democrat Shapiro's running mate, Paul Simon, as lieutenant governor.

It was legal then for each candidate to stand on his own. Legislators later "remedied" this by placing nominees for the No. 1 and No. 2 offices in a single voting entry on the ballot. It wasn't a remedy for Democrats in 1986, when Adlai Stevenson would gladly have run singly as a Democrat, after an unknown won the lieutenant governor nomination in an upset.

Incidentally, the party in which Stevenson ultimately ran, Solidarity, is being merged back into the Democratic Party through legislation enacted in the General Assembly session ending June 30.

To get back to Gov. Shapiro, he moved up to that office in May 1968 (after seven years as lieutenant governor) when Otto Kerner resigned to become a federal judge. Mr. Kerner later was ousted and imprisoned after being prosecuted by James Thompson, now Illinois' only four-term governor.

The Cardinals and Cubs aren't the only St. Louis-Chicago rivalry. St. Louis has been making big gains in attracting major conventions, such as Southern Baptists' big meeting in mid-June, and many new hotels have been built downtown.

Chicago is fighting back. This year and next year, it is opening many new places to stay, including the new Hotel Nikko, Hotel 21 East, the Fairmont Hotel, the Swiss Grand, the Four Seasons, Hotel Morton and the Claridge.

Collinsville also is blossoming out as a convention site but experienced a setback June 17. Use of the city's new water tank was delayed when it failed laboratory tests. The level of coliform in the water was too high.

Is inflation raising its ugly head once again? It's costing voters $1,000 apiece to break bread this week with St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, who would like to be the next congressman.

When native Granite Citian Ralph Tyler Smith, a U.S. senator, ran unsuccessfully to retain that office in 1970, opponents demonstrated outside his benefit dinner at Augustine's in Belleville. They chanted, "A hundred dollars a plate, while other people are starving."

"How to start a new job on the right foot." Or if you would prefer a different heading, "Timing is everything."

We're referring to William Dunn, who took over Friday morning as administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital, Alton. On Friday afternoon, he laid off the equivalent of 75 full-time employees.

State news

Sauget receives grant to repair sewers

Sauget will receive a $1.5 million grant from the state from among $1.8 million being released from Build Illinois funds.

The money will be used in Sauget to rehabilitate its sewer system. The project includes pipe and earth work, manholes and electrical work. The upgrading will allow the system to handle acidic industrial effluent from a local Monsanto plant.

The work will allow the plant, which employs 900 people, to stay in business.

100-year-old citizens to be honored July 1

July 1 has been proclaimed Centennarians Day in Illinois by Gov. James Thompson, who joins other governors and President Ronald Reagan in honoring America's citizens who are 100 and older.

The Illinois Department of Aging estimates about 500 Illinoisians have reached the 100-year mark. There are about 24,000 centenarians in the country. Certificates of recognition will be sent to the centenarians and other special celebrations are planned.

Low-income people create their own jobs

A pilot program, funded by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, is helping low-income people find jobs in a unique way — starting their own businesses.

The pilot programs, being conducted in the Quad Cities, Joliet, Peoria and Cook County, have helped more than 100 individuals improve their entrepreneurship skills. Through the training program, 32 have started new businesses, creating 45 new jobs.

Comments sought about food grants

The Illinois Department of Health invites the public to submit comments about its Human Services Plan, which is used in applying for Special Supplemental Food Programs for Women, Infants and Children (WIC), Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP), Preventive Health and Health Services, and the Maternal and Child Health Services block grants.

A copy of the plan is available for viewing at the State Library in Springfield and at the department's regional office in Edwardsville. Those interested in more information may write the Office of Health Policy and Planning, 535 W. Jefferson St., Springfield, 62761, or call (217) 785-2040.

Daley to head review of mental health code

Cook County State's Attorney, Richard Daley and Donald Hallberg, president of Lutheran Social Services of Illinois, have been appointed chairmen of the Governor's Commission to Review and Revise the Mental Health Code.

The purpose of the commission is to streamline the decade-old state code. Among the issues are: statutory commitment; voluntary and involuntary status; persons unfit to stand trial and not guilty by reason of insanity; and authorization and procedural safeguards in the use of resistant and seclusion.

REO, Willie Nelson to entertain at state fair

Gov. James R. Thompson on June 19 announced the entertainment lineup for the 1987 Illinois State Fair grandstand, with new as well as perennial state fair favorites performing for fairgoers in the newly renovated grandstand.

Eddie Money, whose "Endless Nights" and "Take Me Home Tonight" are pop rock favorites, will kick off the entertainment lineup on Thursday, Aug. 13. All seats for the performance will be $6.

The Chicago Symphony Orchestra will give its third straight free performance on Friday night, Aug. 14. There will be no advance ticket distribution for the performance; all seats will be on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Sunday, Aug. 16, will be Veterans' Day at the Illinois State Fair. Grandstand entertainment for that evening will be an encore performance by the winners of the annual drum and bugle corps competition.

REO Speedwagon will make its first Illinois fair grandstand appearance on Monday, Aug. 17. Seats are priced at $10 and $8.

The Motown Sound will be highlighted on Aug. 18, when Gladys Knight and the Pips take the stage with "Dancing in the Streets," featuring Martha Reeves, Mary Wells and the original Temptations, Eddie Kendrick and David Ruffin. All seats are $6.

Fair favorite Willie Nelson and Family, with his son, Kris Kristofferson, will perform

Aug. 19. Tickets are $12, $10 and $8.

Stevie Ray Vaughan and Double Trouble, with special guest The Greg Allman Band, will be featured in the grandstand on Aug. 20. Tickets for all seats will be $8.

Aug. 21 will be "An Evening with Anne Murray." Murray, who has had hit releases on both the pop and country charts, is also making her first Illinois state fair appearance. Tickets will be $12, $10 and $8.

The Grammy-winning country band Alabama will make its fifth consecutive appearance at the grandstand on Aug. 22, with special guest Restless Heart. Ticket prices are $12, $10 and $8.

Director Mike DuBois said acts for the open Aug. 15 and 23 dates will be announced as soon as final contracts are signed.

All dates are for one show beginning at 8 p.m.

Tickets went on sale at the grandstand ticket office June 22. Tickets can also be ordered by phone with a Visa or Mastercard number, through Ticketmaster at 1-800-621-6227, or the Illinois State Fair Ticket Office at 217-782-1979.

Tickets for the Illinois State Fair auto races also went on sale June 22. Ticket prices for all races will be $8, $7 and $6.

For further information, the Illinois State Fair Ticket Office can be contacted at 217-782-1979, Springfield, Ill. 62706 or by phone at 217-782-1979.

No one could play devil better than Nicholson

By Harry Hamm
Journal correspondent

Jack Nicholson fans will view the film version of John Updike's "The Witches of Eastwick" with more than a little devilish zest.

Who better to play the devil on holiday in New England than Nicholson? He seems to luxuriate in a fit of satanic rage better than any actor of recent times.

With a hair style courtesy of Marlon Brando, Nicholson plays the unrevealed Daryl Van Horne, a wealthy New Yorker who slides into Eastwick one stormy day and inhabits the town's historic old mansion by the sea.

Actually, Daryl doesn't come by accident. He is invited by an elderly couple to spend the summer with their three of Eastwick's most eligible and lonely ladies.

There is Alexandra, played by Cher, who is a widowed sculptress who makes sexually explicit figurines.

Then there's Jane, played by Susan Sarandon. She is newly divorced and the music teacher in Eastwick's grade school.

The third person of the unholy trinity is Sukie, played by Michelle Pfeiffer. She is also without a husband but not without children. In fact, it is rumored in Eastwick that Sukie can be impregnated by a glance.

Daryl makes himself "known" to the ladies one by one. Soon, they are a happy play group in Daryl's mansion, an estate that has been transformed into a kind of Disneyland for devils.

The thrust of the film edition of "The Witches of Eastwick" is the devil's need for love and acceptance. When he goes a little too far in some of his deadly ways, the girls decide to cool the fires for awhile, throwing Daryl the demon into a temper tantrum of dirty tricks.

But the ladies are no dummies. Soon they come up with a plan of their own for victory and even the devil has trouble vanquishing when he is up against three plotting females from New England.

The film's special effects are appropriate. Better yet, they are also gross. There is frequent, forceful vomiting in this picture. It is depicted without delicacy. There is also explicit conduct and speech that fit the nature of Nicholson's character Daryl perfectly. After all, as he so aptly puts it, he is just your "ordinary horny little devil."

"The Witches of Eastwick" also features showcase scenes of Nicholson as the devil that are appropriately and deliciously evil. Nicholson at his worst, which is, of course, his best.

What is missing from this hellish tale is the fire of the fight. The struggle between the girls and Daryl never really lights up despite the barrage of dancing.

It is depicted on this film it seems the devil is relatively easy to dismiss. In addition, he also seems a pliant guy when it comes to backing out on a bargain.

Wisconsin tour planned

The Granite City Park District will sponsor a trip to the Wisconsin dairy country July 23, 24 and 25. The bus will leave the Wilson Park ice rink at 7 a.m. that Friday and return Sunday evening.

Reservations are now being made at the Wilson Park office.

On the first afternoon, the group will tour a Swiss lace factory and watch Schiffe embroidery being made on fabric.

The travelers will then arrive at the Chateau Landhaus, a Swiss chateau-designed hotel furnished with custom-crafted furniture and other Swiss traditional touches. The group will stay there for two nights.

Saturday will include a tour of a cheese factory, a visit to the "house on the rock" lunch in the Spring Green Restaurant designed by the late architect Frank Lloyd Wright and located on the Wisconsin River, and stops at shops in New Glarus, Wis.

That Sunday will begin with a visit to the Swiss Historical Village, where a 12-building complex represents one of the principal collections of Swiss memorabilia in Wisconsin.

The group next will visit in Monroe, Wis., at a cheese shop where freshly-made cheese may be purchased.

The cost of the trip will include four meals, the bus fee, the hotel for two nights, and admission to the Swiss Village, the cheese factory tour and the "house on the rock."

One of the meals will include a complete Swiss dinner at the chateau.

The entire cost of the trip must be paid upon registration at the Wilson Park office. Costs are $170.40 for a single, $135.40 each for two to a room, $123.40 each for a triple and $116.40 each for four to a room.

Residents of the park district will have priority, but non-residents will be placed on a waiting list. No one can make more than four reservations, a spokesman said.

Food tasting set for Sunday

Channel 9's International Beer and Food Tasting will be held Sunday, June 28, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Clarion Hotel.

More than 100 brews and dozens of ethnic foods will be sampled. Lagers, stouts, pilsners, bock and ales from 20 lands will be poured. The food will be from China, Greece, France, Mexico, Italy, India and the U.S.

Tickets are $12 for Channel 9 members and $15 for guests and for tickets bought at the door.

Magic House seeks student volunteers

The Magic House is looking for junior high and high school students interested in volunteering this summer at the children's museum at 516 S. Kirkwood Road.

Students must be 13 or older and agree to at least one two-hour shift each week. Training is provided. Duties include assisting the staff at exhibits.

To volunteer, students may call (314) 822-8900.

20,000 volunteers add flair to VP Fair

By Pamela Selbert
Journal correspondent

Some 20,000 people at this year's VP Fair won't be there just for a good time, but without them, no one else would enjoy their visit to the three-day event.

Bob Cole is chairman of volunteers at the VP Fair. For the past three years, he's been in charge of rounding them up and fanning them throughout the expansive fair grounds.

Cole says those offering their time at the fair are comprised of two groups. The first group, he says, numbers about 15,000, and is made up of area charitable organizations such as Rotary, Kiwanis and Young St. Louisians Charities Organizations, among others.

Club members sell the wide variety of foods available at the VP Fair with all proceeds going to charities sponsored by these organizations.

In addition, there is a service center, which is composed of about 400 volunteers manning eight tents. They offer information to fairgoers and provide a lost and found service and help reunite lost children with families. The American Red Cross provides volunteers, and area hospitals staff medical tents in case of emergencies. The U.S. Army's Command Training Center sponsors and staffs a MASH tent.

The other 5,000 volunteers, says Cole, are members of the VP Fair Foundation. They serve on a variety of committees covering details such as the opening day ceremonies, marshalling, communications, concessions support, the commissary, telephone and pages.

Volunteer duties cover scores of areas, he says. The opening day ceremonies committee helps coordinate events, which include scheduling dignitaries, music and dancers, on Friday, July 3.

The commissary committee, comprising about a dozen members, is needed to hand out small American flags, and to help direct crowds.

The marshalling committee, which Cole says has been his domain since he first volunteered for the VP Fair in 1982, is made up of about 400 members. They help control the flow of traffic on and around the fair grounds, checking permits on cars, vendors to make sure the vehicles are allowed to pass through certain checkpoints.

Shifts during the three days of the fair last between five and six hours, with 40 volunteers working at any given time.

The communications center, which is made up of computer operators and radio dispatchers, is responsible for coordinating and logging radio communications between committees, Cole says. These volunteers put in 12-hour shifts, during the days of the fair.

Concessions committee will supervise vendors of 175 food and beverage booths, and 300 dry goods and clothing booths, he says, and is aided by the commissary committee, which replenishes supplies at the vendor booths as needed.

Telephone operators are needed to answer questions about the VP Fair, give times of events, etc. Cole says 45 volunteers are needed to fill this bill, working 5-hour shifts each of the three days.

One of the largest committees is the pages committee, which consists of about 500 area high school students, who offer their time in a variety of ways, Cole says. "They run errands around the fair, hand out flags or programs, help direct crowd flow, and provide an enormous amount of help." As to their shifts, he says with a laugh, "They work as many hours as their parents will allow."

Volunteers receive a VP Fair identification badge, hat and tee-shirt, and are compensated for their efforts with free hot dogs and soft drinks.

Cole says since he became (the first) volunteer chairman, the number of volunteers has grown considerably each year. "They aren't recruited from any specific area," he says, "but we're always in need of more volunteers. They come to us primarily by word of mouth; friends encouraging friends, and people simply offering their services year after year."

But to facilitate matters, Cole has compiled vast mailing lists of previous volunteers, and to these he sends the VP Fair Newsletter which details various fair events. He has also compiled a volunteer handbook, informing volunteers of what is available to visitors at the fair, and discussing what is expected of volunteers.

"They are a dedicated bunch who enjoy participating in this huge civic event," says Cole. "They feel their city has done a lot for them, and this is their chance to give something back."

Madison Middle School wins Olympiad honors

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

MADISON — A team of four students from Madison Middle School captured the first-place award in Junior Olympiad competition held at SIUE for schools in Macapin, Madison, Clinton and Washington counties.

Members of the top team were Tonya Campbell, Theresa Hampt, Erika King and Dena Withers, directed by Barbara Cox, teacher of the Gifted Program at the Middle School.

Educational Service Center Region is sponsored the Junior (seventh and eighth grades) and Senior (high school level) Olympiads. Each level required a four-person team consisting of through fifth grade, respectively, were Beckemeyer, Bethalto, Alton and Willow Grove. There were 21 teams in the competition.

Theresa Hampt, an eighth grade student and a member of the team, was later accepted by McKendree College for participation in the Challenge Program, 1967, to take place from June 22 through July 3.

The purpose of the McKendree program is to bring together the top intellectually and academically able students for an intensive two-week academic program for gifted students, Cox said.

The cost of the program was $225. Donations were provided by the First National Bank in Madison, Madison Businessmen's Association and Madison-Venice Realty Club.

Cox added, "Theresa exemplifies the type of student that we want to hold onto in Madison and help in any way that we can."

Schooling on farm topics

It will be an educational day July 16 for Madison County farmers at a "research field day" across from the south gate of Scott Air Base on Illinois 161. After the starting school bell at 9:30 a.m., there will be instruction by University of Illinois and Southern Illinois University faculty members on crop sales, insect management, fertilizer costs and weed control.

Fitness award presented to 15 sixth graders

GRANITE CITY — The Presidential Academic Fitness Award was recently presented to 15 sixth grade students from Parkview Elementary School at a program held at the Grigsby Junior High School gymnasium. To qualify for the award, a student must have earned a 4.25 grade point average from third grade through the first semester of the sixth grade.

Also, the student must have scored at the 80th percentile on a nationally standardized achievement test.

Students who qualified were announced by Nancy Marti, Parkview principal.

They were: Wendy Denson, Jason Hall, Aaron High, Christopher Johnson, Jerry Prather, Amanda Westbrook, Tara Wyatt, Bradley Breese, Nicole Gravitt, Donald Haddix, Kimberly Holloway, Gladys Lamb, Jason Wahl, Christopher Warren and Regan Hildebrand.

Each student received a framed certificate signed by the President, the Secretary of Education and the principal.

Jack Buck celebrates Dad's Day in style — with son Joe

By Jim Bauer

Journal staff writer When Father's Day was celebrated Sunday, it was quite meaningful in the Jack Buck household. Joe Buck joined his famed broadcasting dad in the Cardinals' broadcast booth on the press level, at Busch Stadium.

Once when Joe was at the microphone in New York, Jack left Joe by himself behind a live microphone for a couple of pitches. Jack gave Joe a trip to New York for an 18th birthday present. Joe handled it pretty well.

Jack had six children by his first marriage. Joe and Julie are his second set. Joe recently graduated from Country Day School, and Julie, 15, is a student at Westminster Christian Academy. Jack is extremely close to both of them.

The father-son relationship at the Buck home in Ladue is really something special. Both claim each other as their "best friend."

"A lot of my friends see their dads every day," Joe said. "I see my dad maybe twice a week. I'm lucky. My dad is like my best friend. We make each other laugh all the time. When he's around, that's very special to me.

"Our family dinners are special occasions. I'd say sports would be about the last topic we'd discuss at the dinner table. My dad has been very interested in everything I do. He comes to my (baseball) games at Country Day, and he stays as long as he can before he has to go off to the stadium.

"The last thing I'd want to do is disappoint my father. He's done so much for me. My grades were always good in school. I'm about as straight as they come. He loves me and my mom (Carol) and he pounds that home all the time. I prefer to be with my dad than with kids my own age."

Jack Buck says he paid a great deal of attention to the children from his second marriage.

"Sometimes, the first time, you mess things up a bit," Jack said. "I was young, out all the time, hustling — caught up trying to make money while raising a family. I'm better off (financially) now and can afford to take Joe all over the country with me. We are good friends and he'd hate to do anything to disappoint me."

Joe has been to every major league city with the exception of Montreal. Joe is a by-product of baseball, the game that has meant so much to his father, a broadcaster for 33 years.

Eighteen years ago, Joe was born during spring training in St. Petersburg. Until he went with friends to the Bahamas this year, he hadn't missed a winter in Florida since birth.

When Jack was growing up in Holyoke, Mass., and Cleveland, times were a lot tougher. Jack always wanted his son to have things better.

"When I grew up as a kid, you just learned to respect your parents and neighbors," Jack says. "I always said 'thank you' and 'please'."

"As a kid you learned to respect elders. My father (Earl) died when I was still a young kid. When I was 17 years old, I worked on an ore boat on the Great Lakes. I was a porter, night cook, deck hand and baker."

Jack served 33 months in Germany during World War II and didn't start college until he was 22.

"I don't want Joe to have that," Jack said. "He has his own car, he went to private school and he's going to college (Indiana University) this fall."

"A lot of people make that mistake. They want their children to learn in the same fashion they did as youngsters. I can't do it that way. I had two pairs of shoes as a kid. I can't ever remember us having a family car."

"Joe's a good kid. He doesn't drink or smoke or take drugs. I'd kill him if he did. No I wouldn't. I'd get him help if he needed it. He's always been well-behaved. When he was 3 years old, I'd sit him in the corner and do live broadcasts. He wouldn't make a peep."

Buck said he and Carol offer the children a loving household. "We have a lot of hugs and kisses in our home," he said. "Too much is made of the whole macho thing."

Joe is going to Indiana to study broadcast journalism. He'd like to broadcast games like his dad. He'll be trying out for the Hoosier baseball team next year. Jack said his son still has a lot to learn.

"As a broadcaster, he doesn't yet understand you have to do the farm reports, the sports, sales, be a disc jockey — do every job in the station," Jack said. "If he wants to get into broadcasting, he's going to have to start out in small markets."

My first job in radio paid $1 per hour."

Jack recently took on still another duty, commencement speaker at Country Day's graduation, and he addressed being prepared for the future.

"A lot of the kids from Country Day think they've got it made," he told the assemblage. "Many come from well-to-do families. It's nonsense to think you've got it made when you are just 17 or 18 years old. You either screw up your opportunities or take advantage of every chance."

No one beamed at graduation with more pride than Joe Buck, listening to the wisdom of his father, one of the great names in broadcasting.

The next proud moment comes in a few weeks, when Jack goes into the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Duck stamp price up from $7.50 to $10

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service reminds waterfowl hunters and other conservationists that the price of the Federal Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp, better known as the "Duck Stamp," will rise from $7.50 to $10 this summer.

All proceeds from the sale of these revenue stamps are used by the Service to acquire vital wetland habitat for addition to the National Wildlife Refuge System.

Authorization for the price increase was a major provision of the Emergency Wetlands Resources Act of 1986, passed by Congress in an attempt to stem the continuing wetlands loss. The Act also calls for raising the Duck Stamp price to $12.50 in 1989 and to $15.00 in 1991 and subsequent years.

The increase to $10.00 goes into effect on July 1, 1987, with issuance of the 1987-88 stamp featuring a trio of redhead ducks flying low over a backwater marsh. This is the first price increase for the stamp since 1979, when it rose from $5.00 to $7.50 in order to keep up with inflation and escalating land acquisition costs.

According to William Horn, Assistant Secretary for Fish and Wildlife and Parks, "The Duck Stamp is a vital part of our Nation's efforts to ensure the future of our waterfowl populations through the acquisition of prime wetland habitat across the country. The increased revenues from the Duck Stamp will help the Fish and Wildlife Service accelerate these efforts."

Current estimates indicate nearly half a million acres of wetlands are being lost each year in the U.S. These areas are considered the single most productive habitat type for wildlife, especially migratory waterfowl. In addition, they provide critical spawning areas for fish and other aquatic species. Wetlands also serve an important role in providing a natural form of flood control, filtering impurities from water resources, and replenishing groundwater supplies.

During a special ceremony held at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the first sheet of Duck Stamps rolled off the press. The artist who painted the winning design in last year's annual Duck Stamp contest, Arthur G. Anderson of Onalaska, Wis., was on hand to sign it, along with members of Congress, officials of the Department of the Interior, and other dignitaries. The autographed sheet was then donated to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

All waterfowl hunters 16 years of age and over are required to purchase a Duck Stamp each year. However, more and more people interested in conservation and the out-of-doors are purchasing the stamps as a means of supporting wetlands conservation through the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund. Proceeds from Duck Stamp sales are deposited in this fund and, since the program began in 1934, over $300 million has been used to purchase more than 3.5 million acres of vital wetland habitat.

Preservation of waterfowl habitat through the Duck Stamp program is also part of the United States' effort to implement the North American Waterfowl Management Plan signed in 1986 by Secretary of the Interior Don Hodel and Canada's Environment Minister, Thomas McMillan. Under this far-reaching agreement, the United States and Canada have identified habitat conservation goals and other actions needed through the year 2000 to rebuild declining waterfowl populations.

Duck Stamp sales have averaged about 1.8 million in recent years. Based on past experience, when the Duck Stamp price increased, the Service anticipates a slight, temporary drop in sales this year. About 1.65 million stamps are expected to be sold in FY 1988, providing about $16 million for the Migratory Bird Conservation Fund.

This year's Duck Stamp will be available for purchase beginning July 1 at most Post Offices and many National Wildlife Refuges. If a pending proposal is adopted, it can also be used as a year-round entry pass to refuges that charge an entry fee.
